

Junior Achievement® of Delaware

empowering young people to own their economic success

July 2015

Dear friends of JA,

This note is to say “Thank You” to all of you whose participation and support for Junior Achievement during the 2014-15 academic year enabled us to serve 15,580 students across the State of Delaware, and in nearby Salem and Cecil Counties.

Spanning Kindergarten through 12th Grade, these students come from all types of households, zip codes, socio-economic and ethnic backgrounds. They are in public, charter, private, and parochial schools. Some are home-schooled, while others participate at a community center, or as part of a treatment center or juvenile justice program.

The range of schools goes from Kingswood Academy and Bayard to Sanford and Tower Hill Schools...and every type of school in between. From those most in need to the most privileged, these kids’ educators are choosing Junior Achievement content and volunteer role-models as a tool in meeting their teaching and learning objectives.

Whether you are a professional educator/administrator, a financial or in-kind donor, a business or community leader or volunteer, or policy-maker, we appreciate the role all of our partners play in inspiring and preparing these local students to succeed in a global economy.

If you know someone who is not yet actively involved with JA this year, please invite them to become a part of our success story...and the success stories of each student we serve. They can find out more by visiting www.jadelaware.org and can see ongoing student stories on Facebook. Of course, a tour of our JA Campus is a must for those who truly want to understand both our needs and the capacity of JA to inspire and influence the educational and career decisions of local youth.

Please accept our heartfelt gratitude to all of you who support JA Kids!

Sincerely,

Rob Eppes
President
